There has been many a sale in many towns, but never a sale in any town that has created so much interest, or brought out such vast crowds as our semi-annual ODD-AND-END SALE. To-day's shopping and all the rest of the week will be extremely brisk. We do not believe in carrying goods over. There's a reason for our success. Come and take advantage.

HEALTH BOARD TO RECOMMEND APPROPRIATION

City Will Aid in the Tuberculosis Campaign to Be Waged.

DR. ANDERSON APPEARED BEFORE CITY BOARD OF HEALTH, AND MADE REQUEST THAT THE CITY ASSIST—BOARD HAS REQUESTED APPROPRIATION OF $300.

Dr. Warren E. Anderson, local agent for the state board of health, appeared before and made a strong plea to the city board of health at a meeting of that body last night for an appropriation to help defray the expenses of the tuberculosis exhibit which will be opened in this city on Feb. 13, it being the intention of the directors of the exhibit to have the lecturers remain in Pensacola one month, during which time a campaign of education in instructing the people of this city and county and also those of West Florida and Southern Alabama how to avoid contracting consumption, will be conducted.

The car and lecturers are sent out under the direction of the National Anti-Tuberculosis Association, the expense of the visit to Pensacola being placed at from $750 to $1,000.

The board will recommend to the council that $300 be appropriated as the city's donation to the exhibit.

Dr. Anderson said that a portion of the money necessary to bring the exhibit here would be spent in advertising it throughout West Florida and Southern Alabama, from which sections large numbers of people are expected to attend the demonstrations.

It is probable that the exhibition will be held in the building on East Garden street recently vacated by the Hader Furniture Company.

According to statistics in possession of Dr. Anderson, forty-two deaths from consumption occurred in Pensacola last year, which he said was an unusually small death rate from the white plague. He said the number of deaths in Jacksonville last year was 187, this large rate, the doctor said, being probably due to the large number of tourists suffering from the disease who visit that city.

Statistics compiled by Dr. Anderson from the records in the office of the city clerk show that in 1907 forty-eight persons died of consumption in this city, of which number 36 were negroes and 12 whites.

Twenty-five negroes and seventeen whites died of consumption in this city in 1908, making a total of 42. Special days will be arranged for the instruction of colored people during the exhibit.

Appointment Confirmed.

The appointment of Henry Fillinim as a sanitary inspector was confirmed. Fillinim has been detailed by the city health officer as meat inspector.

FAMILY COUGH SYRUP

Cures Any Cough in Five Hours. NEW PRESCRIPTION HERE.

Here is given the most effective cough prescription known to medicine. It is a mild laxative, too, and this is what a body needs when suffering with cough and cold on the lungs. A cough or cold indicates poisons in the system, causing inflammation and congestion. Nearly all cough syrups relieve, but make the trouble worse by their soothing effects. This prescription not only relieves quickly, but it cures any cough that is curable. Get one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essenced carbol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Mix in a bottle. Take for acute cough or bronchitis twenty drops every half-hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less according to age. A few hours' treatment will cure and heal the throat and lungs of all but consumptives. Cut this out and give it to some friend who may need it to be saved from an early death by consumption.

If unable to obtain these ingredients from your regular druggist, you can read from them at the Crystal Pharmacy.

DR. ANDERSON PREACHED TO MEN ONLY ON SUNDAY

Delivered Strong Lecture at the First Presbyterian Church.

CHURCH WAS WELL FILLED WITH MEN, WHO WERE MUCH IMPRESSED WITH THE WORDS OF THE DIVINE, WHO HELD THE CLOSE ATTENTION OF HIS CONGREGATION.

Rev. Dr. Anderson lectured to men only at the First Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, the congregation being a fairly large one, and listened attentively to the remarks of Dr. Anderson, which were in part as follows:

"I wish to call your attention to the reasonableness of this meeting. It is entirely reasonable for men to get together and talk about these things, and anyone who thinks it is not reasonable is mistaken. If this was Monday afternoon or Monday evening, we would be called together to decide some business enterprise or the needs of commerce, or any other business issue in order to get it started, it would be entirely reasonable. Well, we need to do it in religion. It is reasonable in my mind that we should do it.

"I wish you could have been with me last November a year ago in the Music Hall in Cincinnati, on the platform of the Presbyterian Brotherhood Convention. There were fourteen hundred and twenty men there, all men. I was one of the guests of honor. Looking around I saw a nice looking man walking around there as if he had the thing in charge and I asked him what church he had charge of. He said, 'I am a cattle man.' And I looked at him and saw another of these little men; he was a lawyer. And I met great heads of commercial corporations there, controlling millions of dollars, but they were there.

"It is really best for men to serve God. Here is the question I want to ask you. How many of you men believe that your mother or your father ever prayed for you? Gentlemen, on the ground of that solemn act, I challenge your attention this afternoon, and I want your candid, patient, careful attention. Before I speak I am going to read the familiar passage found in Exodus, twentieth chapter:

No Other God.
"And God spoke all these words saying, I am the Lord thy God which have brought thee out of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other Gods before me. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth. Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them nor serve them, for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord thy God will hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain. Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested on the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it. Honor thy father and thy mother: that is the first commandment, which is the Lord thy God giveth thee. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not steal. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is thy neighbor's.

By Associated Press.
Springfield, Ohio, Feb. 8.—That an attempt was made upon President Lincoln's life in Baltimore as he was on his way to Washington to take office is told by Mrs. Coggeshell, widow of the Springfield man who saved the president from death.

All these years the story has remained a secret with Mrs. Coggeshell to whom it was told by her husband in secrecy. Lincoln told no one of it, neither in his family nor in his cabinet. It comes to light now merely because Mrs. Coggeshell believes in telling the truth and that it may be an interesting addition to the Lincoln literature of the month.

Her story is that a bomb was hurled into the coach occupied by Lincoln as it was standing in the station in Baltimore and that her husband first shoved Lincoln through the door of the car and then hurried the bomb through a window of the coach away from the crowd.

Coggeshell, who was one of the war president's close friends, accompanied him from Columbus, O., to Washington. He was later sent by Lincoln as minister to Ecuador, where he died of yellow fever.

Mrs. Coggeshell says: "A change of cars had to be made at Baltimore. The special car dashed into the depot and preparations for an immediate change for the Washington car were made. Mr. Lincoln and my husband were the last to leave the coach. Mr. Lincoln, who was leading, turned just as they reached the door and saw a hissing bomb in the seat he was passing. Mr. Coggeshell turned and saw what menaced them.

"He gave Lincoln a shove that sent him out on the platform, grabbed the bomb and hurled it out of the window opposite to where the crowd was gathered and then hurried to the waiting train. When they had become composed, Lincoln exclaimed, 'Coggeshell, did I not tell you that if you came with me I should come safely? God knows best.'

"For a moment my husband could not talk. Then he said, 'Mr. President, let this pass no further. Let us not give it to the world to be criticized.'"

"Who put the bomb in the car was never learned."

DYNAMITE IS PLACED IN POCKET

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 8.—Herbert Fisher, aged thirteen years, of Sparks Gap, south of Birmingham, is dead as a result of the exploding of a dynamite cap which he had in his pocket. The little fellow did not know what he had and was knocking it when the explosion followed. The boy's arm and hip were torn from the body and death was instantaneous.

SOCIETY OUT IN FULL

St. Louis, Feb. 8.—The divorce suits which Lillian H. Lemp and her husband, William J. Lemp, Jr., filed against each other came to trial in the St. Louis circuit court today before Judge Hitchcock. Two hours before the proceedings began, an audience of fashionably attired men and women had arrived.

father, was a clergyman, and as far back as I can remember they were elders." He had just sized me up and put me down that way.

"I am talking to men this afternoon who are sons of splendid fathers and mothers. Young men, keep the name of your fathers pure. I have six boys, and I tell them every day, affectionately, 'Children, you must keep your father's name.' One of them stands up nineteen years, another seventeen, and it makes me feel old to think of these boys. Listen, I tell them, 'You bear your father's name, his honor, his reputation, and his character. Do you know, boys, you might ruin me very easily by a wild, reckless career. I pray God they never will. I don't believe they ever will. I have taught them to be true; I have prayed with them. I have taken every attitude of a rightful father to his children, and I believe they will stay true to me. God is a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me, and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.'

"In Galatians, sixth chapter, eighth verse, you will find these words: 'For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.' I have read to you men in these words a very profound statement. The fact I have read to you is a very scientific fact, and is thoroughly established as scientific fact. We have what we call an exact science with exact results, and these scientific facts tell you just exactly what is going to happen. You know what would be the effect of an explosion of gun powder. You know what would happen if I point a loaded gun at you and pull the trigger, and every little while you read of someone being killed by a gun which was not known to be loaded. The day left Nashville two boys in a store were playing with a gun, and by some means one of them had secretly slipped in a loaded shell, or else the boy had gotten around to a loaded shell. He pulled the trigger and a man outside fell dead, a ball through his head. I have read to you the statement of a great scientific fact. This statement is more than a fact; it is a great law that lies down under death causes and produces with certainty. The fact is, it is law that governs just as surely the conditions specified as any law in the realm of life. If I should turn this book loose (holding book in his hand) it would fall to the floor, pulled there by the irresistible law of gravitation. The only reason it does not fall is because of my strength to hold the book. You never saw an apple turned loose from the tree and fly to the clouds. The apples come down. When a boy throws up his ball it comes back to him because of this law of gravitation. That law of gravitation which holds you to the earth is not so sure and certain as the law I have specified in this text. 'He that soweth to the flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption, but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.'

"I want you men to let me talk to you something like a lawyer pleading his case before a jury, for I am not here to make any false impression upon you. You have a little box on top of your neck, your thinking box, and you can do some solid thinking while I am talking.

"Here is a law in this text that exists absolutely independent of opinion. There may be some men here who think their relationship to this law is determined by whether or not they believe it. You may doubt the law of gravitation but it does not depend on your opinion, for it exists; it is a fundamental, natural law and exists always and under all conditions. You are now dealing with a law that exists independent of your reason for it; that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption, but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting."

"This whole twentieth chapter of Exodus can be boiled down to two commandments, and the two commandments can be compressed into the one word—love. I want to be a manly man, as strong and as true as my capacity will let me be; if I am not stronger than that it is because I cannot be, stronger, and I believe that I would like to love all my fellow men and I would like to encourage, inspire, and help them. The greatest compliment to me is to have some man to come to me sometime when he is in trouble to get me to help him. I do all I can to help him, and I sympathize with him and encourage him all I can.

"Men, listen, this gracious law of God is not a grinding law, but has a more objective and greater love to give to others than that man may love of other better. Men should love each other. Suppose all the men in Pensacola had this attitude toward each other, each man seeking to help the other, and not trying to destroy a man's present condition but helping him to increase every fair means to prosper.

"Now I want to add a few remarks and give you some points. I am going to pick out two or three or more of these commandments in Exodus and show you what I mean by letting them guide you. Every man in this house is a son. Many of you are fathers, and I wish to call your attention to the commandment, 'Honor thy father and thy mother.' I don't know of any cause of grief and sorrow more than that of the inconsiderateness of sons and daughters who bring shame and disgrace upon their fathers and mothers. If I am talking to a son here who by a wild career—a reckless regard for the prayers taught him upon his mother's knees—if I am talking to such a man this afternoon, I tell you men I don't know of a severer thing than to go against your father and your mother and to actually trample their names to the dust. It is a reckless, rash, selfish, sinful debauchery; and how horrible it is, I have seen it happen. I have known a mother to open the door at night, and her drunken son would fall across the threshold. I would rather go home and find all my six boys lying in their caskets; I would rather walk with my little wife out to the burying ground and see my six boys in their graves, than to have one of them to come home and fall across the threshold drunk as a dog.

"An Example of Drunkenness.
"In a certain southern city lived a marvelous young fellow who was a gifted musical genius. His parents gave him all the education they could, and he graduated from some of the best schools of music in the country. Then he went across to Europe and studied some more. He played before crowned heads and received medals and brought them home to his mother. A beautiful girl, through kindness, gave him his first glass of wine; and this glass of wine, given through kindness, threw the gates of hell open to him. He fell down deeper, and deeper, and deeper, until words utterly fail to picture the actual happenings. Years and years ago when I was a college boy that little song came out, 'Sweet Violets,' perhaps you remember it. I wish you could have heard him play that. Get him about four-fifths drunk and he could interweave such a beautiful accompaniment that it stirred the hearer, no matter who he was. And that fellow has slept in nigger cabins, and coal bins, and car sheds. Sometime ago I was sitting in a barber chair being shaved—I had just come into that town—and I heard a man slip up and say, 'Give me a dime.' I said, 'No, Jim, I cannot give you a dime, you want it to buy a drink.' He said, 'Yes, I want it for a drink and if I knew there was a glass of whiskey in the heart of hell, I would go and get it if I never came out again. That fellow, during an hour of need, married a debased woman. His mother never wanted him to come home any more. There were two vacant chairs then, one was the father's, the other the boy. There were only three chairs, but the mother said she hoped he would never come home any more. He had disgraced her name. He had gone down among the evil and taken to himself a wife who had been disgraced over and over again. And men, tell me, how can you escape the law, 'Honor thy father and thy mother.'"

TUBERCULOSIS CAMPAIGN TO BE WAGED HERE

EXHIBIT IS NOW BEING CONDUCTED IN JACKSONVILLE BUT AFTER FEBRUARY 18 DR. ROUTZAHN WILL BE IN PENSACOLA, WHERE A VIGOROUS FIGHT WILL BE MADE IN THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE DREAD DISEASE.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 8.—The traveling exhibit of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis will be located in Jacksonville and Pensacola during February and March.

Already the exhibition has been shown in the leading cities of Canada, Mexico and the United States with the holding of hundreds of meetings, an attendance of 500,000, the publication of thousands of columns in the newspapers and the distribution of several million pieces of printed matter.

The exhibition consists of charts, maps, models of tents and buildings, photographs and pictures showing causes leading to consumption, demonstrations of living in the open, etc., and several hundred slides used with the addresses, given a number of times each day and night. There is nothing disagreeable or dangerous; no patients treated; no remedies sold or advertised; no promotion of any commercial or private interest.

Purpose of Exhibit.
The purpose is to show the means of prevention and cure, and to secure a far-reaching press and platform propaganda against this preventable and curable disease.

Medical societies are requested to appoint committees to enlist local co-operation, inviting the aid of various clubs and societies.

Public school superintendents, principals and teachers are urged to take the initiative towards forming local committees to aid during the exhibition period in the state, and to give special attention to instruction on the subject of right living.

Woman's clubs are invited to take up tuberculosis through the education, civic, domestic, science, health, library, philanthropy, industrial, or other committee. The clubs can be especially helpful in supplying material for publication in the local papers. The club women can ask the city or county health officer, president of county medical society, superintendent of schools, and two or three other influential men and women, to join with them in forming a committee to correspond with headquarters; to hold a public meeting during the period; and to send representatives to the exhibit.

Every club, church, association, school, lodge, union, college, etc., is invited to co-operate—individually and in concert—taking the leadership whenever not undertaken by some other group.

Every one interested is invited to volunteer their aid, and to offer a report on what has been done and what can be done in the near future in the respective localities.

Efficiency of Campaign.
Efficiency in the campaign depends largely upon the degree of co-operation received from officials, institutions, associations and public-spirited citizens.

State, county and city officials are

PROF. J. B. ROCHE OF GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. The Well Known Hygienic Instructor in Physical Culture

Come to Pensacola with some skill-edged recommendations and will organize classes and introduce his Chart and Spinal treatment. Some of the greatest cures known to medical science have been effected by this Vertebrae Treatment. Prof. J. B. Roche's Chart and System of Physical Culture is copyrighted and endorsed by eight of the leading physicians of Grand Rapids, Mich., including such noted surgeons as Dr. Louis Barth, M. D., and C. M. Kelly, M. D. From C. M. Kelly, M. D., Surgeon at St. Mary's Hospital, also Professor of Surgery Grand Rapids Medical College. Grand Rapids, June 10, 1907.

Prof. J. B. Roche, City.
Dear Sir:—In answer to your favor of the 2nd inst., in relation to the case of Spinal Disease directed to you for treatment, permit me to express my sincere thanks for the excellent and marvelous result accomplished by your method of Physical Exercise and spinal treatment. Yours respectfully, C. M. KELLY, M. D. From United States Senator William Alden Smith.

To the Public:—I desire to recommend to your favorable attention Prof. John B. Roche, a skillful and splendid representative of the art of physical culture. He comes to your community for the purpose of interesting the public in his work. He is an upright, honorable and straightforward man and one whom you can rely on. And I lay my good health to the Roche System of Physical Culture. Respectfully, WM. ALDEN SMITH.

Weak Lungs Means a Weak Life. Your 180,000 Air Cells are Un-used. Here is where Consumption Sows its Fatal Seed.

You are too Fat. A Weak Heart will do Weak Work.

That Constant Irritation of the Stomach Leads to Cancer.

The Roche System of Hygienic Treatment has been successfully followed by hundreds in all parts of the United States and Canada. If you are suffering from Indigestion, Stomach, Kidney or Liver Trouble, I can cure you. My System of Vibration and Deep Breathing is the only cure for weak lungs and overcome shortness of breath. I make a specialty of treating Curvature of the Spine. I guarantee to reduce large abdomens and hips from three to five inches in six weeks—and reduce weight from fifteen to fifteen pounds in the same time, and develop a flat chest or bust from three to five inches and bring you to your normal weight. The Roche System of Physical Culture has no apparatus of any kind. After my course I furnish you with a Chart showing in detail every movement.

To be sick and weak is a crime. From J. Pollock & Co., Mobile. Mobile, Ala., Feb. 16, 1909.

Prof. J. B. Roche, City.
Dear Sir:—I take pleasure in stating that I have derived great benefit from the course of treatment under your instructions, and I recommend your Vertebrae treatment, which you gave my spine, to all. Yours truly, J. POLLOCK. From Paul E. Rapier, President of The Mobile Register. Mobile, Feb. 8, 1909.

Prof. J. B. Roche, City.
Please allow me to express my gratification at the excellent results of your system of Physical Culture. There has been a decided improvement in my physical condition. My nerves are steadier, heart action and circulation much improved, and I feel much better, and I feel like a new man. Respectfully yours, PAUL E. RAPIER.

A Special Ladies' Class Will Be Formed.
This feature of my work was a great success in New Orleans and Mobile, as is shown by letters of reference from the most prominent women in these two cities.

invited to issue proclamations, give public endorsement, and to make such plans as may be practicable in such case.

Institutions are invited to plan for a tuberculosis meeting or address for employees as well as for inmates when that can be practicable and to report what has been done, and what is planned for the future; and to send representatives to study the exhibit.

Every editor in the state is urged to note the news value of tuberculosis and to consider the great service to be rendered through the co-operation which has always been given by the local newspapers.

In every town and city of the state it is urged that at least one public meeting be called by the mayor, health officer, board of education, commercial club, farmers' institute, women's clubs, Y. M. C. A., church, or a newspaper.

Every official and every citizen who has data of any sort regarding tuberculosis in Florida or concerning efforts made to combat it, is earnestly requested to forward same to address below.

Campaign headquarters will be located at Board of Trade building, Jacksonville, Fla., until February 13, where correspondence for E. G. Routzahn, director, should be addressed. After February 18th, address E. G. Routzahn, director American Tuberculosis Exhibition, Pensacola, Fla.

NOAH'S ARK IN PENSACOLA

The following joke cracked at the performance of "Hooligan in New York" at the opera house last night caused much applause:

"What became of Noah's ark?" asked one of the performers.
"The Louisville and Nashville railroad company is using it for a depot in Pensacola," answered Happy Hooligan.

At the Opera House.

At 7:45 a committee from the Civic League will escort Mr. Bryan from the hotel to the opera house, where he will deliver his address and will leave immediately thereafter on the 10 p. m. train for St. Louis.

The reception committee of the Bryan club, with a similar committee of ladies from the Civic League, will occupy seats upon the platform, entering by the front door and reaching the stage through the boxes at the side.

Was Here in 1898.

It has been more than ten years since Mr. Bryan has visited Pensacola, although he has passed through here once since that time. He came here in 1898 at the request of the Escambia county democracy and delivered an address at the opera house which will always be remembered by those who heard it.

Wherever Mr. Bryan speaks he is always greeted by immense audiences, and, although another entertainment, which could not be cancelled, is to be given tonight the ladies of the Civic League are counting on a good audience at the opera house tonight.
